

DOLLAR ASSET MANAGEMENT FUND

Minimum disclosure document (fact sheet) as at 31 July 2017

Investment objectives & strategy

This Fund aims to achieve an increase in value whilst suppressing volatility and risk, through a conservative allocation of assets between, primarily, international equities, fixed interest securities and cash or money market instruments. Exposure to equities is limited to a maximum of 50% and exposure to fixed income securities is limited to a maximum of 70%. Exposure to currencies, other than base currency, after hedging, will not exceed 50%.

Investor profile

This Fund is suitable for an investor looking to achieve long-term growth of capital, accepting a low to moderate degree of risk.

Fund activity

- During July there was a "comeback" in the reflation theme as commodity prices, especially oil and base metals (iron ore, copper), recorded strong gains. In response, inflation expectations drifted higher. We used the strength in our G10 oil-linked currency positions (NOK, CAD) to take profits in our positive oil theme. The positive moves in these currencies were exacerbated by the hawkish turn by their respective central banks. Notably, Bank of Canada raised interest rates for the first time since 2010.
- The US dollar index was particularly weak, reacting to the monetary convergence between G10, the disappointing inflation trajectory in the US and lack of any meaningful policy change out of Washington. At this juncture, data indicates an extremely short US dollar positioning by historical standards and expectations are extremely low, making risk/reward for the currency attractive in our view.
- Emerging market (EM) central banks have been diverging from their developed market counterparts in running accommodative policies to combat disinflationary outlooks. We retain our constructive view on EM real rates in this environment, especially in light of EM inflation volatility structurally declining.
